was able to inform her of the faculty visit, Reid ended their relationship.

O’Keeffe was somewhat baffled by Elizabeth’s solicitation of money. In retaliation, a few months later, she painted a portrait of Elizabeth that had been taken away, working as a student teacher in Spur, Texas. George Lee, the physician. O’Keeffe was too sick to travel such a distance, though she managed to take the train some six months previous, on the return from her Colorado trip.)

O’Keeffe turned thirty in November in an atmosphere of scandal. She had told the drugstore owner that his business was in for a shock. ‘The picture of America,’ the owner exclaimed. ‘They can’t get my feet on the ground — I hate all the trouble it is causing.’

She had written that she must serve. We desire no conquest, no domination, no war, no hate anywhere. We desire nothing but brotherhood for all people. For brotherhood means unbalanced — I’m suspended in the air — I can’t get my feet on the ground — I hate all the trouble it is causing. But to you — to my beloved — you — what you are to me at all if I had not seen the part of you that I have seen? You are everything to me — you are the only one that I can turn to in my moments of need — you are my happiest moments — you are my joy — you are my life — you are my everything — you are all of me — you are the only thing that I have — you are the only person that I love — you are the only person that I would ever love — you are the only person that I have ever loved — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can ever love — you are the only person that I will ever love — you are the only person that I can